

DANIELSON AND PITMAN NEWS

DANIELSON

Dog fanciers came from far and near Sunday to the Palisade kennel farm, near Millington, to attend a very interesting exhibition of police dogs. Henri I. Baer, owner of the kennel, arranged the show, which was unique, and more police dogs were assembled than probably most of those present ever saw before at one time.

Rows of staked along a wide stretch of green field constituted one parking place for the dogs and others were to be seen in their kennels at other sections on the grounds.

Among the dogs were some that are held at prices sufficient to buy a good suit of clothes. One beautiful, Arnie, is valued at $10,000. The dog probably the best bred dog of his breed in this country is not in the world.

Full of life and snap, the dogs seemed as interested in the exhibition as the people. They were kept in the kennels from admirers who appreciate their fine points and during the afternoon, some of them were put through their paces to demonstrate how this breed of dogs can be trained to do many surprising things.

Many of those who came to the exhibition are co-operating with Baer in his breeding operations. What are termed "famous old" dogs were present by the score and very natural were introduced in every dog brought forth in for the day, as well as the fine collection of dogs at the kennels.

At the noon hour, Mr. Baer served his guests with one of King George's famous cowboys at tables set out upon the lawn.

One of the results of the exhibition will be a gift to the children's home at Putnam through the generosity of Mr. Baer and those present at his place on Sunday.

A long row of automobiles parked just to the rear of the area where so many dogs were staked out was photographed by Mr. Baer and the picture will show the dogs in the foreground.

Danielson's dollar day was successful from two important standpoints. It brought a large number out of town buyers to Danielson and the merchants demonstrated their ability to provide numerous unusual bargains. Heavy rains cut in and kept many away, to the mutual disadvantage of buyers and sellers, but those who did brave the storm were well rewarded for their efforts. As a means of acquiring new customers, Danielson's stores and offering unusually low prices to old customers as well as new, dollar day again served its purpose. Some of the merchants reported unusually heavy trade and all received the benefits of the consolidated merchandising effort of the borough's business men.

After Thanksgiving, 7 years of age, was resting comfortably at the Day Kimball hospital Sunday afternoon, mildly relating the widespread story that he had died on the way to the institution after being run over Saturday afternoon, by a car driven by Marcel Yankowski. The little boy ran out from behind another vehicle directly into the path of the Yankowski car, it is claimed. Yankowski stopped his car within a few feet. The injured boy was a small fracture of the skull and a broken collar bone, but his recovery seems assured. The accident happened on South Main street, where several children have been killed or seriously injured in automobile accidents during the past few years. The boy lives in which is known as the 15-family block on the West Side.

While the machine was making what is called "Batter," a deep climb east of Matheon street on the road to Palisade, Sunday forenoon, a part broke on the Ford belonging to William E. Keach of the West Side and it had to be ditched. The car was run over by a car which ran out of control. Although the car was dented and tipped over as it came to a standstill with the rear end of the tonneau in the brush bordering the side of the highway, the driver, Mr. Keach, was uninjured, though the car was a narrow one on account of the length and weight of the car. The car was a 1921 model and was a 1921 model.

Rev. Walter J. Greene, M. S., who has been assistant to the pastor at St. James' church for the greater part of the present year, is to be re-transferred to Hartford, where he will again be an instructor at LaSalle college.

Carl Anderson, veteran of three wars, left Saturday for several weeks' stay at Danville, Ohio. He will be the guest of a hospital orderly whom he met while a patient in an army hospital in France. Mr. Anderson was more than a year recovering from a serious injury received while with a unit of the Yankee division in the first line trenches.

State officers from the local barracks were called to Putnam Sunday morning to check up on an accident in which a new bugabaker car turned upside down when its driver, Anthony Yessack, of Yantic, applied his brakes to make a turn from the Putnam-Capitoway state highway into the road to Thompson, at the children's home in the town of Putnam. Yessack was taken to the Day Kimball hospital for treatment of his injuries. Others in the car were not hurt except in minor ways. The machine had its top torn off and steering wheel smashed, among other damage.

Frank Malhot of High Street underwent a surgical operation at the Day Kimball hospital Saturday afternoon. Mr. Malhot underwent another operation and was seriously ill for a number of weeks.

JEWETT CITY

Fire was discovered in Eddie Gomes' restaurant on Mathewson street, shortly before three o'clock Saturday morning, by Miss Elizabeth Deady, who lives across the way. The fire company made a fire run after the alarm was sounded on the big whistle by Miss McCullough, on duty at the telephone exchange. The firemen were handicapped by the hose bursting when the water was first turned on. Foreman Wakeley ordered a connection made with another hydrant to save time, rather than putting the hose on a length of hose. The building was owned by Chapman and Tripp, was gutted, their loss being $500, partly covered. Mr. Gomes lost his entire restaurant outfit; he also carried a partial loss of the furniture. The cause of the fire is unknown. Possibly a cigar or cigarette dropped by some of the late customers may have caused the blaze.

Herbert Gray, caught a four pound black bass at Ashland pond Saturday morning. The handsome fish was on exhibition in the window of Sullivan's store. Mr. Gray probably has a claim on the prize cup. The Ashland Pond Game Association, of which Gray is a member, has caught during the season by a member of the club. Last summer three at least, were landed by local fishermen that weight more than four pounds.

Judge Barnham has a well developed fondness for juicy porthouse steaks, which on state occasions he finds opportunity to gratify. Friday, while visiting a local market, he purchased three fine steaks, selected from the choicest cuts. One of these, the well-known jurist enjoyed for his dinner, the other two were deposited in Eddie Gomes' ice box for future reference. A friend inquired Saturday about the steaks and before mentioned steaks. The judge, with a weary sigh, replied, "Total loss and no insurance."

A visit to the cellar way shelves these days, or a glimpse at the long tables in the back kitchen, will tell the story of the activities of the industry housewife. Huckleberries take the first place, with the luscious high blackberry showing a close second. The picking season is passed, but when at its height, there was no limit to the requirement of the pickers. A woman of 80 could be seen industriously filling her pail along side of a boy so small that he had to reach up to get the fruit from the tops of the bushes. More than 100 quarts a day were sold on the borough streets, for two weeks during the picking season. All the crop that could be gathered found a ready market. The tops of the bushes, two of two thousand quarts can be preserved for winter use. One woman says, "It was a hot job picking, but my back got pretty lame, but," she says, "What's the matter? I bite into a good old-fashioned huckleberry pie, when the winter comes" and she surveyed her 60 cans with satisfaction. The man, talking with another, about the time when they were boys and used to tramp the Griswold hills in search of huckleberries, was wondering if the pickers of today are ever frightened by the walking stick. Scarcely ever is a boy seen with a walking stick, but a man, who is used to being met with the walking stick; he is to be found on the huckleberry bush, his likeness to the bush itself is his natural protection. Years ago, the fewest of boys believed that a walking stick was a man's best friend. One day in his pasture, two boys from the village saw a great yellow spider attempt to capture a walking stick. The latter was a sure winner, only that the spider's bite was fatal, and as he was pulling the spider's legs off, he succumbed.

During the electrical shower Saturday morning, there were two nearby discharges that caused the big circuit breakers to operate at the local plant, also at Plainfield transfer station. Sup. E. S. Hiscox was at work all the rest of the day to maintain the operation of his lines. Among other trouble the big Sylvanville transformer was put completely out of service, so that a new one will be necessary.

Percy Fox of New London, was admitted to ball Saturday evening in the sum of $200. He was arrested for driving when intoxicated Friday afternoon. Felix Devos, who was arrested at the Casino Friday evening, was released on $25 bail. Many pleasure-seekers at the Casino were much disturbed by Devos' arrest. Officer Viguard, who made the arrest, gave him plenty of opportunity to retire peacefully.

Taxes due the Town of Griswold must be paid before Sept. 1. Lionel E. Bourcier, collector.

Rev. and Mrs. Henry Anderson, Misses Marie and Doris Anderson of Port Norfolk, N. J., and Miss Duan of Livingston, N. J., were guests Saturday of Charles Anderson, Rev. Mr. Anderson's brother.

John Downie, of Vinal, N. J., the late Mrs. James McCullough's youngest brother is a guest of Mr. McCullough's.

At Ashland Park at 6:30 tonight (Monday), the single men after a long period of rest, will try to check the winning streak of the Hill Street nine. The single men will have Percy Pigeon to toss them over, and "Red" Robertson to receive. Lee Jarvis will pitch for Hill Street and "Nap" Liberty will catch. This promises to be a fine game, as the management has secured Sol Pequette to hold the indicator.

The game between Ashland and New London, at Jewett City, Sunday, was called off in the second inning on account of rain, with New London at bat. The Ashland team scored four runs in the first inning; the New London team was not able to score because of the good work of the Jewett City pitcher.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

SATURDAY'S MARKET.

New York, Aug. 28.—Conspicuous strength of several public utilities and industrial shares, several of which registered sensational gains, featured today's relatively dull half holiday session of the stock market.

Consolidated gas was pushed up in remarkable fashion in the last hour, showing a net gain of nine points at one time, but receding slightly at the close. Lisette & Myers advanced 10 points on a very small turnover, and American Tobacco broke through for a new high on a net gain of nearly 2 points. North American and Eastman Kodak also established peak prices on advances exceeding 2 points each.

Rails were subjected to fairly heavy selling pressure in the early dealings but they recovered somewhat later, generally closing with small fractional declines. Possible seizure by the government of facilities probably was responsible for some of the selling in the rail list, but no extensive liquidation took place.

Recent strength of gas shares was attributed in some quarters to the prospect of increased use of gas for fuel this winter because of the threatened coal shortage. A safe campaign of heating appliances, based on that contingency has been undertaken by some of the large local companies. The recent advance in North American undoubtedly was in response to the annual report which indicated that $22 per share had been earned on the company's stock in the last 12 months.

Total sales were 227,000 shares. Yesterday while the French and Belgian rates showed slight recovery from yesterday's extreme heaviness, German marks also rallied feebly. Czechoslovakian crowns continued their rise to high ground, being quoted at 27.5 cents, as compared with 2.95 a week ago.

The clearing house statement showed a decrease of $27,670,000 in loans, discounts and investments as compared with a decrease of $3,330,000 the week before. The reserve of member banks 1 1/2 percent reserve bank decreased $45,919,000, as against a decrease of $208,000 the week before. Cash holdings were increased by $1,575,000, leaving the excess reserve at $7,035,250, or $41,583,200 below the week before.
